Welcome to CLE by the Sea

AZCLE's annual luxury destination CLE experience returns to the beautiful Hotel Del Coronado. Coronado, located across and around the San Diego Bay, is a resort city in the shadows of San Diego. In 2012, Coronado Beach was ranked the best beach in the United States.¹

In addition to the sparkling beach, luxury resort hotel setting and myriad activities for attendees and their families, this event provides attendees with an entire year's worth of MCLE credit hour requirements, several tracks including specialist credits, and includes 3 hours of ethics.

Beyond the breath-taking environment and the MCLE hours, there is also the opportunity to network and mingle with colleagues and faculty, including judges. Our track chairs and faculty are some of the best attorneys in their fields, updating and discussing the critical issues for a contemporary legal practice.

Please read through this brochure carefully to find out more about this event's programs and track details.

LESSONS FROM THE HOLOCAUST

Featuring William Frederick Meinecke Jr. and Marcus A. Appelbaum of the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum

Sunday, July 10 | 1:00 pm - 4:45 pm

This program track may qualify for up to 3.0 hours MCLE/Ethics.

The Holocaust is much more than an unspeakable horror from WWII or a chapter in a history book. The study of the Holocaust provides important insight into the consequences when the mission of the police, judiciary, and the legal profession is transformed from protecting the rights of individuals to actively abusing basic human civil rights. Using legal decrees, judicial opinions, and case law of the period, participants study the role of these professions in the destruction of democracy and the establishment of the Nazi German state. Participants are challenged to examine their own roles and responsibilities as members of professions that hold the public trust, protect society, and influence the health of our democracy by studying the decision making, the opportunities, and often the failures of their counterparts in Nazi Germany that helped lead to mass murder.

William Frederick Meinecke Jr.

William Frederick Meinecke Jr. is a historian at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. He received his undergraduate degree in German and History from the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, in 1983. He attended the universities of Bonn and Berlin in Germany and received his M.A. (1988) and Ph.D. (1998) in history from the University of Maryland at College Park. The title of his dissertation was Conflicting Loyalties: The Supreme Court in Weimar and Nazi Germany 1918-1945. In 1992 Meinecke joined the staff of the Museum's Wexner Learning Center to help design a multimedia program on the Holocaust, the Historical Atlas of the Holocaust (book and CD-ROM), and a website for students. Since 2000, Meinecke has worked with law enforcement officers, judges, prosecutors, and attorneys in the Museum's Law, Justice, and the Holocaust training program. His book, Nazi Ideology and the Holocaust, was published by the Museum in December 2007.

Marcus A. Appelbaum

Marcus Appelbaum is the director of Law, Justice, and Society Initiatives at the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington DC. These programs provide training for law enforcement officers, members of the judiciary including prosecuting attorneys, and state and federal judges on the role of their profession in safeguarding democracy. To date, Appelbaum has created and facilitated training models for more than 90,000 law enforcement and judicial professionals across the nation. He received his undergraduate degree in history from The George Washington University in Washington, DC, and his master's degree in museum management from the Bank Street College of Education in New York City. His association with the Museum began in 1997, when he completed a student internship while in high school. Since then, he has served as a docent, has compiled survivor testimonies, and represented the Museum internationally at conferences in Israel, Austria, Germany, England, and the Czech Republic as well as across the United States. Appelbaum's grandmother, a Holocaust survivor, inspired his passionate support of the Museum's mission and the work he does to share the lessons of this history to our society today.

Behind Closed Doors

Co-Sponsor: State Bar of Arizona Trial Practice Section.

This program track may qualify for up to 12.0 hours MCLE, all of which may be Criminal Law or Injury and Wrongful Death Specialization (up to 4.0 hours MCLE daily).

We are all curious. What happens behind closed doors? “What is the mediator telling them?” “What does the jury think of my evidence?” This three day session will put you in the room and answer those questions and more. Follow the life of a compelling lawsuit from key depositions to mediation, and then through trial and jury deliberations. You will get a unique perspective into the “other room.” Attendees will have the opportunity to stop the process and ask the faculty questions about their approach and strategy. A nationally recognized trial consultant will present a session on the psychology of persuasion, and the ever popular case law and rules update will close the session.

TRACK CHAIRS: Dev Sethi, Kinerk Schmidt & Sethi, Ted Schmidt, Kinerk Schmidt & Sethi

What’s Happening in There? Depositions and Settlement Conference

Depositions of parties and key witnesses allow advocates to plant fence posts with which their arguments’ inferences are made. Strategy and approach is key. It is where trial themes are tested and developed. Keeping cool under pressure, especially when the unexpected comes up, is essential. Sit back and participate in real time depositions...without the pressure...and work through common and cutting edge issues.

After that, get an insider’s look into mediation. And we mean insiders...you will be a fly on the wall in each room as the parties work toward a resolution. Will the settlement conference get it done? We won’t know until the end, but [spoiler alert] there is a trial the next day...This experience will give you more than the basics. It will help you refine your own tools and techniques as you approach mediation – the most common way disputes are resolved.

The session will wrap up with a panel discussion and debriefing.

FACULTY: Judge Mark Aceto, Aceto Mediation (former Maricopa Cty. Superior Court Judge); Kevin Boyle, Panish Shea & Boyle; Dorothy Paine, Gannon and Associates; Ted Schmidt, Kinerk Schmidt & Sethi; Wendi Sorensen, Burch & Cracchiolo.

MONDAY - 8:15 AM -12:30 PM

Building Trial Skills

Day two brings more than just watching skilled advocates try their case. With the help of a trial consultant, move through voir dire – thinking through how to rate and deselect potential jurors. Then interact with our trial lawyers and judge as they try their case. Evidentiary issues, legal issues, and human issues all come together in the crucible of the courtroom. How you navigate them is key to winning. Watch our faculty put their case on and deal with the inevitable surprises and obstacles in the courtroom.

FACULTY: Judge Mark Aceto, Aceto Mediation; Kevin Boyle, Panish Shea & Boyle; Dorothy Paine, Gannon and Associates; Ted Schmidt, Kinerk Schmidt & Sethi; Wendi Sorensen, Burch & Cracchiolo; Richard Waites, Ph.D., The Advocates

TUESDAY - 8:15 AM -12:30 PM

The Psychology of Persuasion and Important Updates

Richard Waites, Ph.D., lawyer and trial psychologist with The Advocates, will start the morning with a talk on the Psychology of Persuasion. Much work is being done on how jurors think and process their responsibility. Much of the analysis has moved into the area of neuroscience. Dr. Waites will give an overview and update.

FACULTY: Richard Waites, Ph.D., The Advocates

Case Law and Rules Update

Did you know that the biggest changes to the Arizona Civil Rules of Procedure since the adoption of the Zlaket Rules in 1991, are currently working their way through the Arizona Supreme Court’s process? Learn the details of these proposed changes and the details of recent civil and criminal cases that impact your practice.

FACULTY: Dev Sethi, Kinerk, Schmidt & Sethi

WEDNESDAY - 8:15 AM -12:30 PM

With the growing body of law arising from legal and business life with the internet and the use of technology as a part of your business, lawyers should understand how to navigate the benefits of using technology while meeting their ethics obligations to protect their own as well as their clients' information. This track will cover topics such as providing advice to businesses about cyber security and legal obligations regarding data privacy, data breaches, use of technology in practice such as "the cloud", ethical standards, the Digital Millennium Copyright Act, take down notices, and much more.

The Perils of Connectivity: Privacy and Security on the Internet of Things

We are moving toward a world where all of our computing devices will connect within the existing Internet infrastructure, ushering automation in nearly all fields. This is known as the "Internet of Things". The session will explore the legal and business ramifications of information security on the Internet of Things. Central to this will be a discussion of how information security and data management have become core business operations and have led to a myriad of legal problems beyond just dealing with data breach litigation. We will present an advanced view of the Internet of Things and our panel of experts will discuss anticipated legal issues business lawyers will need to address as this future unfolds.

FACULTY: Leon Silver, National Practice Group Leader for Retail & Hospitality, Gordon & Rees, Scully Mansukhani - panel moderator; K Royal, Vice President, Assistant General Counsel Privacy and Compliance, Privacy Officer, CellTrust Corp.; Daniel K. Christensen, Global Group Counsel for IT, Privacy & Security, Intel Corp.; Daniel Oseran, Senior Director and Counsel, Global Privacy, Business, Ethics & Compliance, eBay Inc.

This panel will provide an up to date discussion of issues that all businesses of any size -- not just huge corporate companies -- face with regard to protecting their own data, the data of their clients, and their proprietary information. We will address matters that lawyers should discuss with clients as to what they can and should be doing to protect their business data -- so much of which is relatively easy prey on "the cloud". The session will provide information for proactive lawyers to go back to your clients with one or two ideas regarding what clients can and should be doing to prepare for the inevitable security law or breach.

FACULTY: Robert W. Shely, Partner, Bryan Cave (Phoenix) -- panel moderator; David Zetoon, Partner, Bryan Cave (Colorado Springs); David Chamberlain, SVP, The PNC Financial Services Group

WEDNESDAY - 8:15 AM -12:30 PM

This session will address the ethical and disciplinary concerns that lawyers should have about digitizing their offices, using the web, storing client sensitive information on the web. The panel will provide a survey of issues and solutions faced by lawyers as a result of the cyber world -- workplace cyber policies, social media policies at work, how to assist clients who believe they are being defamed on the net, how to reach and get the attention of ISP providers, how to make and respond to "takedown notices" under the Digital Millennium Copyright Act. In addition, the panel will cover an overall survey of areas that are troubling and matters that are risky to lawyers and clients in the cyber world.

FACULTY: Robert W. Shely, Partner, Bryan Cave (Phoenix) -- panel moderator; Lynda C. Shely, Member, The Shely Firm; Kelly J. ("KJ") Kuchta, Founder, CEO of Forensics Consulting Solutions, LLC, Phoenix Arizona
